

Abstract

The article presents the results of the study aimed at describing and analyzing the current state of the language situation and trends of its change in areas of the Amur Evenks residences. The results indicate the widespread displacement of the Evenki language by the Russian language from all spheres of use, bypassing the stage of bilingualism.