

Abstract

The article views the problems of teaching German as a foreign language to Sakha students in the conditions of the interaction of three languages. The influence of the native language in pronunciation is analyzed.