GRAMMATICAL FEATURES OF FUNCTION WORDS EXPRESSING THE RELATIONS OF REASON AND PURPOSE
IN MODERN CHINESE

Abstract

The article describes the features of grammatical function of words that express the relations of reason and purpose in modern Chinese. In the field of morphology and syntax we can single out certain features of functional words that convey these relations. This research is based on literary works by contemporary Chinese writers such as Su Tong, Chen Zhuo, Wang Hai and others.

Keywords: linguistics, function words, morphology, prepositions, conjunctions.
